
Andrew Wyeth Karls Room 1970 Poster Wyeth

andrew wyeth: in retrospect - seattle art museum - room, wyeth asked karl to pose. suddenly, his model grabbed a sausage from the hook above his head and violently took a bite. violence seemed then to permeate that room—the hooks, the sausages, karl's brute force. at that moment, karl offered wyeth a glimpse into a man's dark side. triple fable - lcdf - andrew wyeth painted the kuerners. there's this one picture, it's of karl kuerner. he's in a room that used to be for hanging meat, so there are these hooks on the ceiling. they're rude and strong and angular, and you can feel the blood on them, you can almost taste it. one of them is over karl's head and he's just—smiling. that ...
